Athlete's Prayer

"Our Heavenly Father:

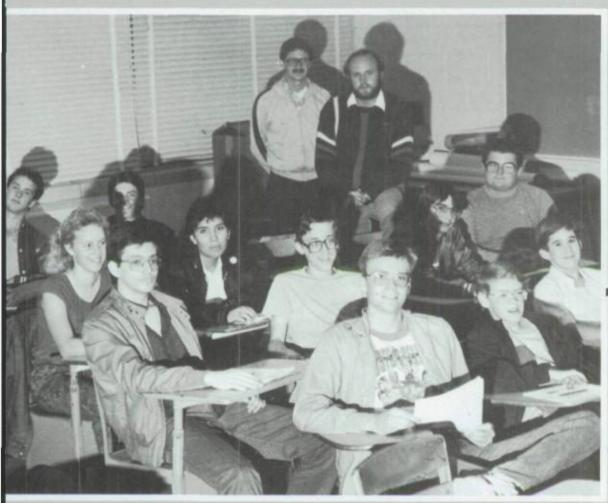

"We thank you for bringing us together, united as a family should be. The special attraction of athletics is that it mirrors so faithfully our life on Earth, from the kick-off at birth through the four quarters of life: childhood, youth, adulthood and old age."

"In our team effort to work for our heavenly goal, we sometimes get defensed by heavy sorrows; whenever we advance in virtue, we may get red-dogged by satan. There are times when we are afraid to go with courage. A few of us even error our chances."

"Help us, heavenly Father, to run through all obstacles, and pass by mistakes of others. Your Son is our leader and you are our Coach. Teach us to run the right patterns in our life and avoid getting beaten, so that we will truly make the score one day through the heavenly gates, as the angels and saints cheer us on from the sidelines."

The morning was bright and shiny, the day was August 25, 1986. The class of 1990 walked through the doors of R.H.S. Our eyes were big, our knees were shaky, and no one knew where his or her locker was. Why was everyone staring at us?

We could never figure out why we were always the first ones to show up at the dances. At our first pep assembly, when it came time for the battle cry, nobody had told us that we were supposed to stand up and yell. Every day at lunch we would walk to Taco Box or Burger King as we watched the upperclassmen zoom by in their very own cars. The most embarrasing part of all was on our first date when our parents had to chaperon us everywhere we went.

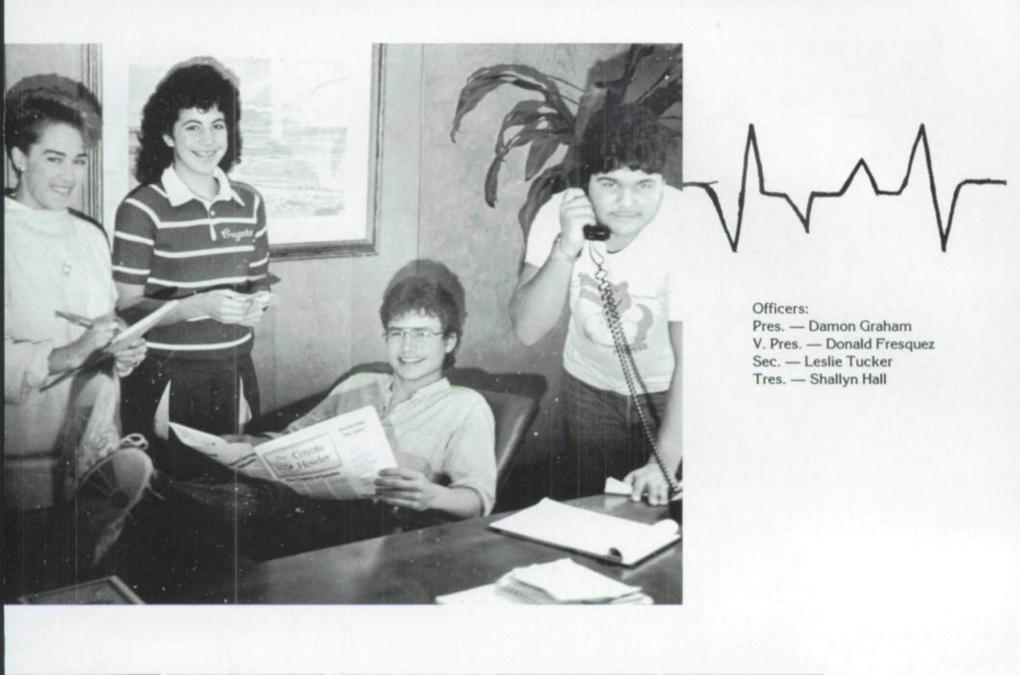

The second semester of our Freshmen year began to show hope and promise for all of us. We had won the pep jug twice, believe it or not the locks on our lockers worked and the "biggy" arrived. We could take "Driver Training!" Just wait upperclassmen, we too will drive someday.

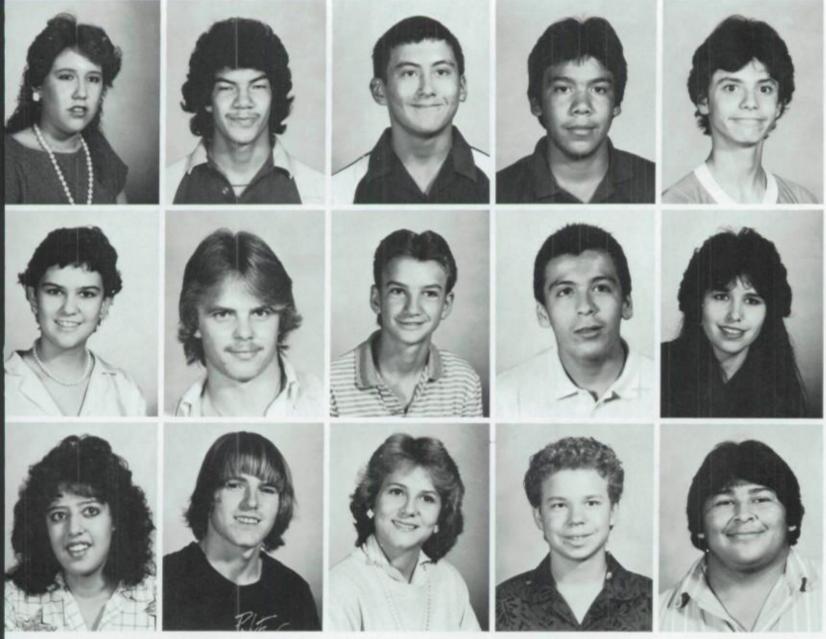

Some of our female classmates got to go to prom, but no Junior or Senior girls' wanted to ask any of the male classmates. Miss RHS came along and some of our "cuties" got enough courage and entered. School ended — we made it to Sophomore status.

Signatures Dusty. Where do I start?! There are so many things that have happened that never should have, but all we can do is try to forget and go on. If I could start again, there are so many things that I would change. The misunderstanding with Loren ~ That was a mistake! It doesn't even matter what really happened. I only wish it wouldn't have come between us. I know we 've never been real close, but I want you to know that I think you're a very special person. Believe it after we all part. You are a sweet person with a lot going for you. Dood luck at college: Have a SUPER summer!

The summer days were gone but it was okay because we were sophomores. We were the largest class ever, feeling like we could take on the world. We weren't the new kids in school, but we were still considered underclassmen. Being sophomores, we had experienced many embarrasing moments as freshmen. This year we were prepared! We knew to go to the dances fashionably late, also we had already taken drivers training, so some of us were zooming around in our own cars.

At the assemblies we knew to stand and yell with our coyote pride. We won the pep jug many times. We did learn that we had a great football team that was worth cheering for. School wasn't all fun and games; there was studying to be done, but we'll worry about that as juniors. The barn dance was ours to present and the monies are going for "our" big Prom.
